

Serenity²

Do you want to make sure that payments for orders received by telephone, email, fax and post reach you without delay? With Ogone e-Terminal, nothing could be easier! Ogone e-Terminal is a completely secure virtual terminal which can be accessed via a standard Internet browser. Enter your customers' contact details on a simple form, similar to a credit card slip, and Ogone will process the payment as soon as it is sent. Ogone e-Terminal is an easy-to-install, user-friendly solution that helps you to streamline processing of payments for remote sales.

Why choose Ogone e-Terminal?

The fact that Ogone e-Terminal does not require any hardware or software installation makes collecting payments from remote sales child's play. You can configure your Ogone account in just a few minutes and start processing your first payments via any Internet browser, regardless of your location. Ogone e-Terminal can also be used simultaneously by several users.

And there's more...

For your convenience, Ogone provides a set of tools that allow you to monitor your transactions and sales in real time.

You can search a history of your payments, check the status of payments, extract reports and even modify the configuration of your Ogone account, 24 hours a day from any PC with an Internet connection.

Ogone also offers you an optional user management module that allows you to grant access to your staff according to their specific needs and the required level of security.

Ogone e-Terminal, in three easy steps

To streamline incoming payments from your customers, simply follow these 3 steps:

1. Create your free test account on www.ogone.com by selecting Ogone e-Terminal. You can then access the user guide and test the functionalities of your payment solution.
2. At the same time, ask an Acquirer, in other words a bank that authorises you to accept payments, to grant you a contract for the payment methods you wish to accept.
3. Once you have signed a contract with the Acquirer of your choice, convert your Ogone test account to a production account and select the most appropriate subscription package for your needs.

As soon as you have completed this last stage, you are ready to use your new streamlined payment process.

sales@ogone.com